The International Forum of Allergy & Rhinology (IFAR) is accepting applications for Editor in Chief, term beginning April 2020.

The official journal of the American Academy of Otolaryngic Allergy and the American Rhinologic Society, IFAR has achieved unprecedented success since its launch in 2010. IFAR is ranked #11 of 42 otolaryngology journals, with an impact factor of 2.135 in 2017. The successful candidate will have a strong vision to help the journal continue to foster growth and evolve with changes in publishing to embrace new opportunities.

Interested candidates should forward a CV to IFARLLC@aoallergy.org in order to receive an application. Completed applications are due no later than August 15th, 2018. For further information, please contact Jami Lucas at jlucas@aoallergy.org or Peter Hwang, MD at hwangph@stanford.edu.
